

Committees Busy With Dedication Plans

Large Crowd Expected From Outside Cities

BANQUET TO BE HELD AT ZAUEL'S. TICKETS ON SALE.

The long looked for event of the dedication of Grayling's new municipal electric light and power plant will take place next week—Friday, June 28th. Mayor Geo. Burke has been busy checking up on his committees and reports that everything is working out fine.

Last Monday the city council and other officials sent out 90 invitations to mayors and other city officials to be guests on that afternoon and evening. It is expected responses will be coming in within a few days. Mayors and officials of just about every community in the north and others further distant have been invited and it is expected that a crowd of nearly 100 may be present.

The program includes an open house at the electric plant during the afternoon. City Attorney Chas. E. Moore is in charge of transportation and requests that all those who care to do so please have their cars at Shoppenagons Inn and at the plant and take the visitors to other features of the city including our new sewage disposal plant and the waterworks and to such places of interest about the city that they may care to visit.

Down-town headquarters will be at Shoppenagons Inn and Roy Trudgen will head the reception committee, and be assisted by others. Here the visitors will register and receive information on the plans for the afternoon and evening.

The program at the electric plant will be in charge of T. P. Peterson and Royal Wright. At 7:00 o'clock that night there will be a banquet at Zauel's Tavern. The committee in charge is Mrs. C. G. Clippert and Mrs. Harry Connine. Dr. C. R. Keyport is the chairman of the program committee and will be assisted by T. P. Peterson. Dr. Keyport will be the toastmaster.

Mayor Burke requests that business places decorate their stores and have displays in keeping with the big event. The public is invited to have a part in these programs and to attend the banquet in the evening. Owing to the limit in seating capacity everyone wishing to attend the banquet must secure their tickets early. Of course women as well as men are invited. 150 tickets have been reserved for Grayling people. The price is $1.00 per plate.

BANQUET TICKETS NOW ON SALE

Tickets for the dedication banquet to be held Friday evening, June 28th, may be purchased now from any member of the dedication committee or they may be purchased at Dawson's or Mac & Gidley's. Due to limited seating capacity there are only 150 tickets reserved for the city, and these are going fast. Those desiring to attend the banquet should get their tickets now. The price is $1.00 per person.

The banquet will be held at Zauel's Tavern, it having the largest seating capacity for a banquet within the county. No drinks will be served during the banquet.

Jury Drawn for Special Circuit Court Term

A special term of Circuit court has been called for next Tuesday, June 25, at 1:00 p. m. This is for the purpose of trying several pending jury cases. Prominent among these are those of A. John Schruer, of Gaylord, charged with negligent homicide. This occurred April 27th north of Frederic when his truck, charged with being over the center line of the highway, struck an automobile in which were riding Walter Hinds and Henry O. Gignac of Petoskey, killing both men instantly.

Another case is that of two 15 year old Frederic boys charged with breaking and entering. Jurisdiction in this case was waived by the probate court and transferred to the Circuit court.

The third case is that of L. C. White, charged with gross indecency.

Jurors

The following jury has been summoned for the special term: City of Grayling—Christ Johnson, Paul Ziebell, Nettie Stephan, Mary Biggs, Leland Smock.

Grayling Township—Mary A. Amidon, Mary Powell, Rola Failing.

Beaver Creek—William Fairbotham, John Smallwood, Frank Lundburg.

Frederic—Theodore Ridgeway, Erv Roe, James Tobin, William Cox.

South Branch—Hazel F. Stevens, Frank Forrester, Boyd J. Funch.

Maple Forest—Richard S. Babitt, Hemming Petersen, Earl Lovely.

Lovells—Frederick Rowe, Hay J. Duby, Clarence Stillwagon.

RECEIVES MEDAL FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

William Hill just received from the War department a medal "Military Order of Purple Heart", awarded him for distinguished service in the World War.

The medal is heart shaped in the foreground of which is a molded figure of General George Washington. It is suspended from a crossbar by a purple ribbon.

The Military Order of the Purple Heart was founded by General Washington during the Revolutionary war and awarded for military merit. Mr. Hill was wounded in battle when he received a machine gun bullet in left side of his neck, it lodging close to the vertebrae after passing thru a regimental emblem attached to his coat collar. This occurred in the Meuse-Argonne sector October 9th, 1918.

Educate Farmers Thru 4-H Clubs

ALLEN SCHRUER WAS SPEAKER AT KIWANIS CLUB

Max Laage, a member of the agricultural committee of the Kiwanis club, was chairman of the meeting Wednesday and provided Allen Schruer of Gaylord as speaker.

The attendance was better than usual and also a couple of visiting Kiwanians were present. Geo. R. Sidwell of Ann Arbor is a member of Michigan Municipal League, with offices in Ann Arbor. Wm. McCaslin, an attorney, resides in Grand Rapids. He spends much of his time throughout the year at his home on Torch Lake. Incidentally he is a baseball scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers, and related many interesting incidents about baseball affairs.

Attorney Charles E. Moore announced the dedication plans for the new municipal electric light and power plant that is to take place Friday afternoon and evening, June 28th.

Secretary Harley Russell of the Chamber of Commerce suggested that the Club present a resolution to the State Highway department requesting that highway 208 be taken over as a state highway. This had recently been turned back to the county from the state. James McDonnell was appointed as a member from the Kiwanis club to work with a similar committee from the Chamber of Commerce.

Allen Schruer, the guest speaker, told of some of his experiences on the farm where he spent his first 23 years, and denied that he would be qualified to speak as authority on present day farming. He cited several examples of poor judgment by the farmers in business methods. These things are being corrected thru the education of boys and girls (young farmers) 4-H clubs. He claimed there was little that may be done to educate or change the methods of the older and experienced farmers, especially in his business ideas.

Michigan State college too is doing excellent work in educating the farmers. And Extension clubs are bringing about better home methods to the farmers wives and their families, thus making home life on the farms more comfortable and cheerful.

His talk was well received and it was generally expressed by the members that he had the right idea.

Friday night the members of Grayling club will be guests of Capt. Maxwell at Hartwick Pines CCC camp.

C. J. McNamara will be chairman and provide the program for next week's regular meeting.

Roscommon Loses To Grayling; 4-1

In a non-league game at the local park the Grayling Merchants baseball team defeated the Roscommon Rumbler Sunday afternoon, 4-1, with all the scoring coming in the fourth inning.

Roscommon broke the scoreless tie in the fourth inning on a batter hit by a pitched ball, a base on balls and a single for their only run. The local boys came to bat and Lewis Smith led off with a double and scored the first Grayling run on Keith Bowen's single to left field. With Ed Chalker at bat Bowen stole second base and scored on Chalker's single. Ed went all the way to third base on an error by shortstop Knapp of the Rumbler. Dewey Courts walked, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch, Chalker scoring. Elmer Kellogg struck out. Paul Lovely beat out a slow roller to third base, scoring Courts with the fourth Grayling run. Ken Gothro hit a long fly to left field. Ervin Ballou making a nice running catch off his shoe-tops, to end the inning.

The local's manager, Claude Cardinal, used four pitchers with Clayton Anthony starting the game and hurling three no-hit innings. Elmer Kellogg, former Lewiston pitcher, took over and after a bad start in which he allowed the visitors their only run he settled down and retired them the remaining three innings he worked before turning the pitching duties over to Art May, third local finger, who pitched the eighth inning and allowed two hits before retiring because of a sore arm. Gordon (Ducky) Pond then picked up the mound duties in the ninth and held the opponents hitless. Kellogg received credit for the win and Hager, Roscommon pitcher, went the route, striking out fourteen and allowing ten hits, was the loser.

The winner's attack was led by Dewey Courts with three for three and Art May and Clayton Anthony with one for one apiece. Knapp led the loser's attack with two hits in four trips to the plate. The local team played their best fielding game of the season, committing only one error to three for Roscommon.

Sunday the Merchants journey to Gaylord for a Northern Michigan League game.

Miss Glorienne LaMotte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Middle LaMotte and Mr. Lawrence Gale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gale of Gaylord were united in marriage Sunday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. James McInerney at St. Mary's rectory at 2:00 o'clock. Miss Elsie Mae and Robert LaMotte, sister and brother of the bride were the attendants.

The bride was pretty in a street length gown of pale blue chiffon, with which she wore a white picture hat and white accessories. Miss Elsie Mae's gown was blue print, also made street length, and both wore corsages of spring flowers.

Preceding the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a family dinner, and following a reception was held for relatives and friends at the home. Those from out-of-town in attendance included the groom's parents, Miss Elaine Gale, Mr. and Mrs. Glenwood Munn, Gaylord and Misses Ann and Gertrude Gale, Saginaw.

Recruiting High In Sixth Corps Area

Chicago, June 18—The Sixth Corps Area, commanded by Lieutenant General Stanley H. Ford, and comprising the states of Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin continues to be among the leading corps areas in the country in the current campaign to increase the enlisted strength of the Regular army to 280,000 men.

Figures released today by General Ford revealed that 987 recruits have been accepted during the last three weeks of the campaign in the Sixth Corps Area. Corps Area recruiting officers are enlisting approximately 50 men daily.

According to General Ford, the Sixth Corps Area ranks third in the number of recruits secured during the last week in nine corps areas. All enlistments involved in the report are new. They do not include reenlistments or replacements. The majority of midwestern recruits are being sent to Fort McClellan, Alabama.

Recruiting officers here declared they were encouraged at the high types of young men being recruited. In general, they said, the youths are an upstanding lot, many of them high school graduates. A number have partial or college educations.

Cooperating with recruiting officers at 54 stations now set up in principal cities of the Corps Area are Reserve officers and patriotic organizations.

Bass Fishing Season Opens Tuesday

Next Tuesday is that day which is awaited so eagerly every year by considerably more than a half million Michigan fishermen—the day on which the black bass, bluegill and sunfish season opens. And this season, unless all present indications are upset, Michigan fishermen will be joined by a record number of out-of-staters.

June 25 is marked by the lifting of restrictions on fishing on inland waters of the state not now open to fishing and it will be legal to take all species of fish except grayling and sturgeon.

The fish division of the conservation department reports that an unusual number of inquiries concerning places to fish and kinds of fishing in Michigan has been received to date from outside the state. Residents of eastern states, particularly, are displaying increased interest in what Michigan has to offer the fisherman.

More than eight hundred thousand fishing licenses may be sold in Michigan this year. Resident fishermen, for the first time, are buying $1 licenses which entitle holders and wives to fish for all legal species, including trout. Of the $1 license fee, 40 cents is earmarked for acquisition of lands which provide public access to fishing waters, for research and lake and stream improvement. Non-resident anglers pay $2 for licenses good for one year, $1 for special 10-day licenses. In the case of non-resident fishermen, wives may obtain licenses upon payment of a 50-cent fee.

Michigan expects the biggest tourist business on record this season and the quality and type of fishing offered in the state is primarily responsible for attracting a large proportion of visitors. As usual, the lowly bluegill will be the fish which lures most fishermen to Michigan's inland lakes.

WHAT'S THE EXCITEMENT

It is high time that senators and representatives put on the brakes in Washington or we will soon find ourselves going hell-bent into the European war. Last week the president demanded that he be given authority to call out the National Guard. No American president in peace time has ever asked for nor has he ever been granted that power.

Preparedness is a condition we should have been in ever since the last war. In the American tradition we have not been prepared for war, though. We have spent billions on raking leaves, building pretty monuments, erecting postoffices at every crossroad and otherwise frittering away our money. Certainly American defenses should be built up and built up immediately but we should prepare without hysterics. Hitler's legions will not start any American campaign before breakfast day after tomorrow. No country has or is considering declaring war against the United States and no sensible person in the United States should be thinking of a United States declaration of war against any other nation.

Propagandists, sword-rattlers and Washington politicians who would involve us in war should be placed under surveillance. Their hatreds, their schemes, their plots should not be permitted to involve this nation in war. Preparedness can best be carried out by keeping cool and keeping our senses.—Ingham County News, Mason, Mich.

DEAD END

Marquette prison has a beautiful setting. It looks out over Lake Superior. The grounds are beautiful. The stone out of which it is built is suitable for a cathedral. Yet inside it comes as near being a dead end as any place in the United States. There are short-termers who can be released. Yet the majority of the inmates are hardened criminals. They are desperate men, many of them with the mark of Cain, others convicted of revolting, inhuman crimes.

We inspected Marquette prison a few weeks ago and we can still see the eyes of some of those men, we can see the expressions of hopelessness on some of the faces, we can see the brutality which carried them to prison and which will keep them there. Of course, some of the men are deranged. It is true, too, that some of them look no different than the rest of us, and it is also true that some of them have probably learned their lessons and will go straight when they are released.

Marquette, Jackson and Ionia prisons are terrible places, not terrible because of the confinement, the discipline, the food or the treatment accorded prisoners, but terrible because of the waste of lives, terrible because of the crimes of those incarcerated, terrible because of the heartbreaks of the mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters, and sons and daughters of those confined. It is the dead end. To make a comeback in life an about-face is demanded. That it can be done is proved by the records of the parole board. That it can not be done without courage, determination and moral strength is also proved by the records of the parole board.—Ingham County News, Mason, Mich.

From Veil to Shorts

Go Turkish Girls

Fifty years have taken Turkish women far, all the way from the veil to shorts. Recently the American Girls College of Istanbul celebrated its half century anniversary of turning out Americanized versions of Turkish young women. Although there were only two Turkish girls in the first graduating class, the numbers have increased since the advent of the Turkish republic and the recognition of women's rights until 90 per cent of the college is Turkish.

The leading Turkish families are eager for their daughters to have American educations. But even though the students appear in brief white shorts and bare legs for gym classes—a far cry from the days when they had to be veiled for commencement—the Turkish government and national customs tend to lessen the Americanization process.

Even though "Gone With the Wind" is the Turkish students' favorite reading matter and pictures of Clark Gable and Tyrone Power decorate her room, she does not entertain men at college proms. The ministry of education prohibits boys and girls dancing together within the college walls.

Although the Turkish collection speaks good English and studies with many of the same books as her American counterpart, she doesn't wear makeup, doesn't like to eat between meals, has never heard of a "coke" or "jitterbug" and prefers tango to swing. She'd rather go to the movies than to a dance and only drinks alcoholic beverages at a ball or a wedding.

Boys aren't allowed to call at the college, so the dean isn't bothered with the ever-present American problem of putting in parked cars because the average Turkish youth doesn't own one, there being but 5,000 in all Turkey.

Although new vistas have been widely opened to women in the last two decades of Turkish history, the average student prefers marriage to a career. None looks forward to a movie or stage career because that still "isn't the thing to do." Although she gets her fashion ideas from the American movies, she isn't as susceptible to fads as American girls and her sweaters and skirts have more individuality than those found on American campuses.

She chooses her own clothes but doesn't have an allowance. She likes sophisticated clothes rather than casual sports things; wears her hair in a long glamour-girl bob, favors snoods and costume jewelry.

Antarctica Will Become Tropical, Predicts Byrd

Millions of years ago Antarctica had a tropical climate, according to Adm. Richard E. Byrd, the famous explorer.

The climate, moreover, is changing, he says, and that region again will become habitable.

But don't make any rush for Little America as yet. It will take some millions of years, Byrd declares, till it's warm enough for you. Byrd brought back from his recent expedition geological and botanical fossils of wood and leaves to prove the antarctic once was tropical. He said fossil animals might be found if the polar ice cap could be excavated. However, he said it was not possible to prove human existence there.

The far southern continent is passing through a glacial age and the ice is slowly diminishing, Byrd declared. Shepherds in Chilean Patagonia had told him, too, that the ice and snow was less now than a generation ago, he added.

As the ice diminishes in Antarctica, Byrd said, the temperature will gradually rise through the centuries and possibly the currents which give sub-tropical Chile and Peru their temperate climate will become warmer.

Washington, D. C. FARLEY RELEASES

William Burke, Massachusetts Democratic state chairman, has confided to friends that he received a personal letter from Farley containing authority to release the delegation "if the President's name is presented to the convention." Since this is certain to happen, Jim's letter means he will not fight a third term nomination.

Burke's friends attribute Jim's letter to the sweeping change in public sentiment since the catastrophic war developments. Hitler's blitzkrieg through the hapless lowlands washed up the numerous Democratic hopefuls as well as the Dutch and Belgians.

Air Raids in U. S. Too!

—By Thomas—

Massachusetts' 34 delegates are the only ones pledged to Farley. Whether his retirement from the nomination race means that Jim is ready to manage another campaign is unknown.

SUPERIORITY IN TANKS

The fighting which took place in Flanders probably was the most desperate in the history of the world, even bloodier than the Battles of the Marne and Verdun. Corpses were piled house high. The trapped French and British made the Germans pay in floods of blood for every foot they advanced. They knew that most of them had no chance of escaping, but their objective was to weaken the Germans, give time to General Weygand to strengthen the defenses of Paris.

The key to this war (and also to American defense) is to remember that khaki does not stop machine-gun bullets, while tanks do. Also that it is impossible to whip an enemy whose airplanes can spy out every move and blast that move even before it gets started.

The air and tank preponderance of the Nazis is the crux of their successes.

NAZIS IN SOUTH AMERICA

The problem of protecting the Monroe Doctrine has undergone intensive nights of study of late around the state, war and navy departments. Nobody is exactly predicting that Hitler will invade South America this year, but nobody expected him to invade Norway either. And the British, one year ago, didn't expect to be invaded at all, and did not very well prepare for it.

So U. S. strategists, not knowing what Hitler, in the full flush of victory, might do, are endeavoring to be prepared.

On the maps of South America hung in government offices these days are two danger spots. One is Brazil, the other Uruguay. Other spots are bad, but these two have the largest number of Nazi sympathizers and fifth column plotters.

Uruguay is simply honeycombed with Nazi agents. There are also strong German colonies in southern Brazil, and even in Buenos Aires. In Argentina, the older army officers are strongly pro-German, having been trained by a German officer. In Brazil, the younger army officers are pro-Nazi.

Particularly worrisome is the fate of these countries with Italy in the war. There are at least 2,000,000 Italians in Argentina—or about one-fifth of the population. Also there are large Italian colonies in Uruguay and Brazil.

Chief undercover strategy of these racial groups is to overthrow the present governments in South America, in favor of puppet governments friendly to the Nazi-Fascist cause. Then these puppet governments could renounce the Monroe Doctrine and invite Hitler to the Western hemisphere.

Note—New aviation aids, enlarging of airports, training of pilots, and even the co-operation of the U. S. fleet in using Brazilian harbors are now under discussion to bolster the present pro-allied governments of South America.

WAR CHAFF

Senator Josh Lee of Oklahoma says: "The people of my state are probably ahead of the President in his attitude toward Europe."

Dorothy Thompson says the best key to Italian war sentiment was given her by an Italian in Milan, who said: "Curse the English, who drove us into the arms of those swine, the Germans!"

Don't throw that lighted cigaret out of your car window! Maybe, if you do, another fire will be poured on the chart at conservation department headquarters. There have been too many fires, already, in 1940; 21,858 acres burned over in 845 fires in the first seven weeks of the forest fire season! If you are careless, you may destroy something which belongs to you. The state forests DO belong to you!

Lansing—The shadow of labor discord has appeared again in Michigan.

Coming at a crucial time when the United States government is leaning heavily upon our industrial plants for armament, a threat at production output could easily become a national affair. The situation is something like this:

(1) The C.I.O. is fearful that industrialists may seize upon the preparedness issue as a pretext to deny them the "right" of higher wages—and the "right" to strike for them.

(2) Industrialists recall the activity of communists in the 1937 sit-down strike, and they insist that unions shall give a five-day notice of strike only as a last resort in negotiating grievances. They want authority also to dismiss employees, alien or otherwise, whom they believe to be involved in sabotage.

(3) Commissioner Oscar G. Olander of the state police says 100 additional men are needed to investigate "hundreds of reports of subversive activities in this state." While Olander did not divulge where the additional men would be detailed, it is understood that officials are apprehensive that sabotage may hinder production of important war orders.

(4) And, this being a democracy, don't forget this one: National and state elections are due to be held next November. That means votes and lots of them.

Dictator

With the European war possibly to our shores (this is believed inevitable should England move its capital to Canada), Michigan's automobile plants occupy key positions in the national defense of the United States.

Our involvement in the war would probably evoke a war-time dictatorship. Rights of management and labor could be limited drastically by federal decree, all in the interest of national security.

Hence the peace-time actions of industrial labor leaders and workers in the rank and file may prevent or invite stern war-time regulation.

The alternative would be to risk the price paid by France where production of necessary war supplies even two years ago was insufficient to meet urgent needs of national defense. In a remarkable report to the president of the French Republic on Nov. 12, 1938, M. Daladier and Renault declared:

"The gravest failure, from which the other follows, has been the persistently low level of production. . . . If production is insufficient it is primarily because its possibilities of development have been paralyzed."

The idea of a reduction in the length of the working day had been entertained on the assumption that, as a result of increased efficiency of labor and more intensive use of machinery, the same output could be obtained with fewer hours of work.

"But the efficiency of labor has not increased and the hopes founded on technical improvement have not been realized. How could it have been otherwise, when the majority of factories and shops were closed two days out of seven?"

Joint Responsibility

In this new period of national emergency—and signs already point that it has arrived—special responsibilities rest upon management, capital and labor.

Mr. Renaud, co-author of the 1938 report, is now Premier of France. Like Winston Churchill, he is bearing a heavy task of trying to overcome the dreadful waste and loss time in the years prior to the war.

In the light of French experience, it is clear that every element of our population may be called upon for new sacrifices—perhaps by longer working hours, perhaps by heavier taxes, and perhaps by postponing the satisfaction of former wants in favor of present wants of a more urgent nature.

In a democracy such as the United States and in a state of advanced technological development such as Michigan, the challenge of 1940 is whether we can solve the problem of defense as efficiently as a totalitarian state. Cooperation of capital and labor will be put to a new test. Upon the success or failure of this teamwork depends the security of millions.

Ford, Peace Apostle

Henry Ford, America's outstanding genius of mass production, financed a "peace ship" to Europe in 1918.

When this nation entered the conflict, Ford swung his huge plants into the manufacture of tanks, submarine chasers and ambulances.

Still an apostle of peace, the Dearborn manufacturer a few weeks ago received world-wide attention when he declared in an interview that the Ford organization could produce 1,000 airplanes a day through mass production methods "if" he were guaranteed of no governmental "meddling"—presumably by the National Labor Relations board.

The army department rushed one of its latest models to Dearborn for Ford engineers to examine.

Because Ford's management policies have always been liberal to labor, the C.I.O. has been unsuccessful to date in efforts to unionize Michigan plants. How popular the automobile maker is with labor was revealed recently by a Gallup public opinion survey which placed him high up on the list—along with John L. Lewis!

CCC Youths

Non-combatant military training in the CCC camps in Michigan appeared to be a probability as Congress rushes plans to integrate federal relief and national defense.

The youths would not be trained with guns for military combat, but they would be given instruction in bridge and road construction, cooking, first aid, radio, photography and mechanical work. The camps may help to train young men for industrial employment in an effort to break the present bottleneck due to lack of machines and skilled machinists.

The NYA camp at Cassidy Lake (between Ann Arbor and Jackson) is already training young men in vocational fields such as aviation and automobile engineering.

Michigan national guardsmen will train this summer at Sparta, Wisconsin, and at Grayling. The CCC camps would "prove valuable assets in case of mobilizations," it was stated at Washington by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff.

G-Men in Michigan

Federal investigators of the department of justice have developed leads in Michigan "as challenging as those we received in Louisiana," so admitted O. John Rogge, assistant United States attorney general, in Detroit.

The Louisiana inquiry consumed eleven months before the lid blew off.

The Associated Press intimated that the federal grand jury was looking into charges of graft in connection with liquor dealings.

After Wayne county's mess involving the sheriff, prosecuting attorney, and a couple score of policemen, the prospect of a Louisiana-style scandal being uncovered in Michigan fairly takes your breath.

The Washington probe may end in indictments of a startling nature.

Flag Day Presentation

(Address by F. N. Belgrano, Jr., President, Pacific National Fire Insurance Company Past National Commander, The American Legion)

My Fellow Workers, Members of the Pacific National Fire Insurance Company Family:

Never before in the history of our nation, has there been more reason for all of us to say, "Thank God I am an American," never more reason for us to resolve—with unswerving determination—that America's torch of liberty shall never fall. If we ever needed a lesson on what liberty, freedom and justice mean to us—and I am afraid some so-called Americans have needed such a lesson—we are getting it from Europe and Asia today.

In much of the world, civil liberty is gone; freedom of speech and freedom of the press are gone; religious tolerance, even religion itself, is gone; independent thought and action are gone. Ruthlessness grinds the small and weak under an iron and bloody heel. The Four Horsemen have resumed their mad, devastating ride. In all but modern methods of murder and devastation, the world overseas has slid back into the dark ages.

True, we are not without our problems—serious problems—but how puny they seem in comparison with those endured by peoples of other lands; and how bright, by contrast, is the picture of our own peaceful nation. And yet within the confines of our country, there are some who lend attentive ears to those subversive elements; to those fifth column propagandists, who would destroy this very government of ours, and the American way of living—those who would have us substitute some alien doctrine fostered by any one of the cruel fanatical dictators who are today giving us, in the subjection of innocent people to their commands, an example of their ideas of human rights.

It is time for the citizens of America to speak. We must boldly declare ourselves, and demand that these alien intruders return to the shores from which they came. We must be proud of our country—of our American institutions—of our form of government. We must tell our side of the story.

Aside from the spiritual values which have accrued to us from the privileges we inherited from our forefathers, let us re-examine just a few of the material values inherent in our American way—values achieved by free enterprise under the protection and guarantees of the Constitution of the United States of America, symbolized by this glorious flag of ours—values representing the highest standard of living for the masses that the world has ever known.

Economically, America is the most powerful nation on earth. Its industrial system has revolutionized world trade. Its production methods have made possible the high standard of American living. Do you realize that, although the United States possesses only 6% of the world's area and only 7% of its population, yet it harvests one-third of all the world's foodstuffs; that this same 7% of the world's population annually consumes 48% of the world's supply of coffee, 53% of its tin, 56% of its rubber; 21% of its sugar, 72% of its silk, 36% of its coal, 42% of its pig iron, 47% of its copper and 69% of its crude petroleum?

The citizens of the United States own 89% of the motor cars operated in the world. They own 25% of the world's railroads and possess two-thirds of all its banking resources. 22,000,000 homes are wired for electricity and serviced by 20,000,000 telephones, and 30,000,000 radios. We have the finest educational system in the world. Our facilities for the care of children, the aged and infirm—our hospitals and our health service—surpass those of any other nation.

Countless other figures could be cited to show that more families are protected by life insurance—and, of extreme importance, that more individuals in our country own more real property than in any nation, or group of nations, since time began.

The purchasing power of the American people today is greater than the combined total of the 500,000,000 Europeans. Likewise, it exceeds that of the billion Asiatics.

Let me make use of these figures in a simpler way. A typical American family's market basket contains a pound each of beef, bacon, bread, butter, potatoes, sugar, a dozen eggs and a quart of milk. That market basket costs the average American steel worker 1 2-5 hours of toil. For the same basket in France he would labor 3 1/2 hours in normal times; in England 3 1/2 hours; in Sweden 4 1/2 hours; in Germany 5 1/2 hours; in Belgium 7 hours; in Italy 10 1/2 hours and in Russia 25 1/2 hours. In many of these countries he would find it difficult, regardless of price, to purchase some of these articles.

Surely the time has passed when we can be indifferent to things that are transpiring within our very midst. We must take active interest in the preservation of our present form of government, if we are to continue to reap these national benefits.

For a moment, let us think of ourselves and our own organization. In what other nation in the world would it have been possible for a fire insurance company, such as ours, to achieve in comparatively so few years, the position the Pacific National Fire Insurance Company enjoys today? Free enterprise, security, and protection afforded us under our form of government, together with your loyal and energetic cooperation, have made Pacific National's record possible. And because we live in this great democracy, symbolized by our flag, I can give the command "Forward!" in the full realization that Pacific National will continue to grow and prosper. My job and yours—the present and future security of our families—are not dependent upon the whim of some dictator, or the control of flames of hatred that may at any moment burst forth to destroy. They are dependent upon us—upon you and me—upon our foresight, confidence, judgment, loyalty and energy. And no one—I repeat, no one can take this privilege away from us, or from the millions of Americans like us, without our knowledge and consent.

Let us walk down the middle of the road, following the direction so clearly defined by our country's founders. Our flag, the glorious stars and stripes, is the symbol of our very form of government. It stands for all that we are, and all that we hope to be. In these troublesome times, it is my thought that we should display this symbol. It would serve as a constant reminder to all our visitors and friends that we respect and revere the ideals for which it stands—loyalty, justice, freedom and democracy—and that our heritage is more precious to us than gold; yes, more precious than life itself.

And so, on this Flag Day in 1940, I am presenting to you, my friends and colleagues in all our offices throughout this nation, the flag of our country. Although beautifully manufactured in silk, its intrinsic value is small; but its real value is beyond price. It stands for a free nation of free men, devoted to the ideals it represents. I hope that whenever your eyes fall upon this national emblem you will feel the surge of pride, that wave of gratitude, which will daily inspire your silent prayer, "God Bless America."

Brain Surgery Pictures

Japan's first medical sound moving picture was released recently in Tokyo. The film, which shows a delicate piece of surgery on the brain of an epileptic, is the work of Dr. Makoto Saito of Nagoya medical university. The picture was planned and directed by Dr. Saito, who has 50 reels of silent medical films to his credit, and the operation was performed by him. High spot is the removal of an affected area of the brain about as big as a man's thumb, from the head of a 28-year-old male patient. The man recovered rapidly. Music is played on the sound track so that the actual scenes of the operation, which are gruesome, may not have a bad effect on the audience.

Salamanders Dislike Heat

Salamanders cannot live in extreme heat. They can survive air temperatures somewhat more than 70 degrees, but their surroundings must be moist, as they cannot stand dry heat.

Hitler and Christianity

(By Floyd J. Miller, in Royal Oak Review)

Have you ever wondered what life seemed like to people who lived through great crises such as our own Civil War and Revolution or the great Crusades of Europe?

Now we know, at least as far as such things can be understood by any humans who find it difficult to grasp the immensity of the present world upheaval. For it still doesn't seem real, even though newspaper headlines shout it to us continually, and the radio blares it forth night and day.

There are so many angles to the whole situation. If we really try to think out the problems, we find it difficult to say that any group is all right or any other group completely wrong. The errors of many nations have led to turmoil in which all Europe today finds itself.

The shadow of these dread events falls threateningly on our own shores. We are realizing that a man or a nation that wishes to live in peace cannot do so if it is to the advantage of a stronger and more ruthless nation to destroy that peace.

All over America today serious-minded men and women are planning to defend America. Some think first and only of visible land and property and of military defense. Others look deeper. They understand that what created America in the first place was not land, but ideas.

Men of many bloods struggled to the shores of this great continent with astonishingly similar ideas of a new kind of world. Here they founded one. Its basic principle was the freedom of the individual. Kings and all hereditary rulers, dictators and autocrats of all sorts were forbidden here. "Liberty," a word for which millions had given their lives in other lands, here developed a wider meaning than it had ever before possessed.

Freedom of Religion

This new America was known as a Christian nation. Protestants, Catholics, Lutherans by origin, most of its people accepted a religion based on the existence and the teachings of Jesus Christ. The American idea of freedom permitted the free exercise of any religious belief.

Out of the present World War now is developing the question, "Can Christianity survive?" The question, as raised, really concerns Europe more than it does this country. Yet the implications of future danger for the United States are apparent.

Some of the reasons why prominent churchmen in this country are worried have been discussed by a group of leaders in the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, one of the outstanding religious organizations. It is pointed out that the Nazi philosophy preached by Hitler and his supporters goes much further than an effort to remove alleged wrongs to Germany in political and economic spheres.

Dr. Stanley High, noted writer, says, "The most critical, long term issues with which Adolf Hitler has confronted western civilization are not political and economic. They are moral and religious. His political and economic program has destroyed the machinery of Germany democracy. His moral and religious program is more radical than that."

"By it, he proposed not merely to alter the mechanism of the church to fit the Nazi pattern. He proposed, rather, to destroy both the faith on which the church is founded and the way of life to which it is committed. For the faith of the Christian church, he seeks to substitute a neo-paganism. In place of the Christian way of life, he is attempting to establish a standard of human conduct and a system of human relationships which involve a complete repudiation of the New Testament and make a deliberate mockery of Christ."

Its Menace Clear
Whatever may be the verdict about the political menace of Hitlerism, Dr. High writes, there can be no choice among Christians as to its moral and religious menace.

"Moreover, the paganism with which Hitler would supplant Christianity is not to be confined to Germany." He says, "He aims to paganize the Western world. His missionaries in every land are not to rest until the scourge which he has loosed on
